

Rotary Seniors for the Month of May

By Sam Kiernan

The seniors chosen as the Rotary Seniors of the Month were Logan Puckett and Meara Hannon. Throughout their high school careers, they showed outstanding hard work and dedication towards their academics, sports, extracurriculars and so much more. The Rotary Club recognized their efforts in this month's meeting.

The first rotary senior of this month is Logan Puckett. Logan is a part of the Tri-M Honors Society, National Honors Society, the Musical, Early College Academy, Choral Ensemble, Bella Voce and Helping Hands. She is a part of the girl's varsity tennis team and manages for the boy's tennis team. Through the many extracurriculars that she took part in, Logan was able to receive many opportunities and make many friendships. A lot of these clubs, sports and societies revolve around helping the community through volunteering, such as going through Oxford and cleaning up trash or volunteering during the Blood Drive that OAHS had.

Early College Academy also allowed Logan to further her education while in High School and received an associate's degree. Logan has decided to attend the University of Pittsburgh for Nursing. Logan chose nursing as her career because she loves helping people, and this has shown through her volunteer work over the years. Making a positive impact on people's lives has always been a dream of hers. Nursing fits her best because it offers many different career options and opportunities.

The second rotary senior of this month is Meara Hannon. Meara is a part of National Honors Society, Academic team, and Marching Band. Through the National Honors Society, Meara was able to expand her volunteering outside of just Oxford and help the Red Cross and CHOP with blood donations and donations. Academic Team helped her strengthen her knowledge on subjects she may have never looked into, and overall helped grow her knowledge about the world. Meara has also been doing martial arts for about 13 years. She has earned a double black belt, and martial arts has allowed her to work on herself defense skills. These have enhanced her focus and confidence. Throughout her whole life, Meara has focused on helping those around her through volunteer work, inspired by her mom's determination to help others when she can. Meara has decided to attend college within the medical field, fulfilling her need to help others. She will become an ultrasound technician and continue to follow her mother's footsteps of helping others.
